One of the functions of the Naval Education and Training Professional Development and Technology Center (NETPDTC) is to prepare training manuals (TRAMANS) for the U.S. Navy. TRAMANS are developed for two purposes: (1) to enable job incumbents to do a better job for the Navy in their assigned occupational specialties, and (2) to provide a source of study for advancement. TRAMANS are developed in accordance with the Navy Enlisted Occupational Standards developed by the Chief of Naval Personnel to meet the Chief of Naval Operations skill requirements.

The enclosed material will be used to develop the following TRAMAN:

To ensure that the TRAMAN is responsive to the needs of the Navy, your review of the attached material is requested. Comments should be concerned with the following:

1. Does the chapter cover current material?
2. Does the chapter provide sufficiently broad overview of the occupation?
3. What suggestions can you make to improve the contents of the chapter?

Comments, recommendations, and reasons for changes may be entered in the margin of the chapter pages. If you desire to retain the chapter, comments should be made on the enclosed Review Sheet (NETPMSA 1550/8).

The attached material was developed by _____ who may be reached at DSN 922- _____ if discussion is desired.
